

Share Your Expertise on SPECIAL DIETS

Submit Your Contributions to the Journal of Child Nutrition & Management (JCN&M)

Are you interested in the topic of special diets and all that it encompasses—costs, management, communication, menu modifications? Have you discovered a unique solution to accommodating special diets, or are you currently conducting research on this topic?

Then submit your paper for the themed edition of the Journal of Child Nutrition & Management to be published in November 2019. Published articles will be shared with the school nutrition community and showcase how challenges related to management of special diets were resolved, and provide evidence to guide future research and policy development on this topic.

Details for Submission:

◆ Submission deadline—May 15, 2019

◆ Submission categories:

- Commentary—Brief opinion piece that stimulates thought, challenges the status quo and provides suggestions for research in action
- Current Issues—Review of current literature or discussion of an aspect related to special diets
- Practical Solutions—Description of a problem or challenge and discussion of the solution that led to improvements in the school meal program
- Research in Action—Original research reports
