

PEER REVIEWERS FOR 2022

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

One of the most important aspects that makes any peer review journal a success is the quality of its peer reviewers. The reviewers for The Journal of Child Nutrition and Management provide quality contributions that make the Journal a success. The individuals listed below were instrumental. We have expanded our expert pool of reviewers over this past year. They willingly responded to requests from me, to review manuscripts submitted to the Journal. The understanding by reviewers of research methodology and operational aspects of child nutrition programs is essential to ensuring articles published in The Journal of Child Nutrition and Management are credible resources of research or evidence to support informed decision-making useful in all aspects of child nutrition. Please join me in thanking these individuals!
